Opportunities for Undergraduate Research in Computer Science

What: Conference for Undergraduate Women in Computer Science

When: Oct 5-7 2007
Where: Carnegie Mellon University

- share your curiosity and interest in CS
- explore the research experience in academia and industry
- tackle research questions
- hear about life in graduate school
- present a talk or poster: great for first-timers

Speakers include:

Frances Allen
Winner of the 2006 Turing Award, IBM Fellow Emerita, T. J. Watson Research Center

Jennifer Tour Chayes
Research Area Manager for Mathematics and Theoretical Computer Science at Microsoft Research

Jeannette Wing
President's Professor of Computer Science, Carnegie Mellon University, and Assistant Director of CISE, National Science Foundation

www.cs.cmu.edu/ourcs